What's News in Women's Health

– by Barbara Bourrier-Lacroix, Riverview resident and Information Centre Coordinator for the Canadian Women's Health Network (CWHN) : www.cwhn.ca or 942-5500

"Julie's Story." From fat to farts: what's stinky about these ads...

Many of you have likely seen the advertisements - in bus shelters, on billboards, on television and in newspapers across the country - showing already slender women wishing they were thinner so that they could wear their bikinis, or strip tease for their husband, or wear that little black dress - if only they could lose a few pounds!

"Ask your doctor about 'Julie's story'" say the advertisements, selling an unnamed pharmaceutical drug for weight loss.

According to the Globe and Mail (02/24/05) the "Julie's Story" ad campaign is being funded by Hoffman-LaRoche to promote sales of their pharmaceutical, Xenical (also known as Orlistat). Xenical is no magic pill that simply melts the pounds away for those of wanting to lose a few, as the ads may suggest, but a prescription medication approved only for the treatment of obesity.

What does Xenical do to your body? Xenical works by preventing the absorption of dietary fats from the foods you eat, with undigested fat removed through bowel movements. In the process, the absorption of some important fat-soluble vitamins and beta-carotene in the diet are blocked. So those taking Xenical must also take vitamin supplements to get the essential nutrients they are no longer able to absorb from the foods that they eat.

The most common side-effects of Xenical are the following:

- Oily or fatty bowel movements (stools)
- Increased number of bowel movements
- Urgent need and/or inability to control bowel movement
- Bowel movements that are orange or brown in colour
- Gas with discharge

- Oily discharge
- Stomach pain
- Irregular menstrual periods.

Xenical is also not recommended for those who are pregnant, planning to get pregnant, breastfeeding, or who suffer from chronic malabsorption syndrome or cholestasis.

Does "Julie's Story" still sound sexy to you?

For other health complications associated with Xenical, visit:

WINNING CHILI RECIPES
From the 1st Annual RVCC
Winter Carnival !!!

Chili #1 Margaret Manning
RED PORK CHILI

1/2 lb sliced bacon
 4 lb boneless pork shoulder, cubed
 2 Tbsp oil
 1 large white onion, chopped
 1 – 2 fresh jalepeño peppers, salted and chopped
 4 large garlic cloves, minced
 2 tsp oregano
 1/3 cup chili powder
 1 Tbsp cumin
 1/4 tsp cayenne
 14 oz can of beef broth
 1 cup coffee
 1 cup water
 32 oz can of crushed tomatoes
 2-19 oz cans small red kidney beans

On the side:

chopped red onion
 cilantro
 avocado lime wedges
 sour cream
 tortilla chips

Cook bacon till crisp. Drain and set aside. Crumble.

Pat pork dry. Season with salt and pepper, and brown in large Dutch oven with oil and 2 Tbsp pork fat. Set aside.

Sauté onion and jalepeño in same pot until soft. Add garlic, oregano, chili powder, cumin, and cayenne and sauté one minute.

Add browned pork, beef broth, coffee, water, and crushed tomatoes. Simmer approx. two hours. Stir in kidney beans, simmer.

Serve with bacon and accompaniments.

Chili #2 Gerdi Stewart
Thick 'n Delicious Chili

1 can (540 ml) diced tomatoes
 1 can (156 ml) tomato paste
 2 carrots, sliced
 1/2 onion, chopped
 2 Tbsp apple juice
 2 Tbsp white vinegar
 dash or more of red pepper flakes
 1/4 cup red pepper
 1/4 cup green pepper
 1/3 cup steak sauce
 2 tsp or more hot sauce

5 slices bacon
 1 kg ground beef
 1 package chili seasoning mix
 1 tsp ground cumin
 1 can kidney beans, drained

Directions:

In crockpot, combine first eleven ingredients.

1. In large skillet, cook bacon until crisp. Drain on paper towel then cut into small pieces. Drain fat. Brown beef, drain. Stir in chili seasoning and cumin.
2. Stir beef and bacon into tomato mixture. Cook on low for 5-6 hours.
3. Stir in beans. Heat through and serve.

Chili #3 Hugo Bergen
Chili Burritos

Lean ground beef (500 gm)
 Pork sausage (red-wine flavored, "Mitchell's" brand) (500 gm)
 Oil (2 tbsp)
 Onions (2-3 large, chopped)
 Garlic (4 cloves)
 Celery (5-6 stalks, finely chopped)
 Basil (2 tbsp)
 Tomato sauce (or chopped tomatoes) 2 x 540 ml
 Tomato paste (150 ml)
 Curry powder 1 tsp
 Cumin 1 tsp
 Chili powder 2 tsp (or more to taste)
 Salt (1 tsp or to taste)
 Kidney Beans (2 x 540 ml)
 Cooked white rice
 Mozzarella or Monterey Jack cheese (shredded)
 Tortillas

In skillet cook the meat over medium-high heat until no longer pink.

In large saucepan over medium heat add oil and cook onions, celery, garlic, and basil for 5-10 minutes.

Add the tomatoes/sauce, tomato paste, curry powder, cumin, and salt. With slotted spoon add meat. Bring to a boil and simmer for 30 minutes.

Add the beans and simmer for 15 minutes.

Alternatively, if making burritos add some cooked white rice to a portion of the chili mixture.

Microwave tortillas for 20 seconds and add a few tablespoons of chili onto the tortilla along with some cheese.

S.O.N.S. CHILDREN HOP FOR THOSE WHO CAN'T

The children of South Osborne Nursery School will be participating in the 15th annual Hop for MDC, an educational fundraiser for Muscular Dystrophy Canada (MDC), on the afternoon of April 22, 2005. This event also provides a great photo opportunity, with children wearing bunny ears hopping for a great cause!

Hop for MD is a fun group activity for young children. It is designed to educate children about physical disabilities, while at the same time improving their counting, coordination, and creativity skills. Most of all, it's about helping others and having a "hopping" good time while doing so. Proceeds raised through Hop for MD will be used to fund research, support programs, and essential medical equipment to the growing register of over 700 clients in Saskatchewan, Manitoba and NW Ontario.

Neuromuscular disorders affect children, men, and women of all ages, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds. Some disorders are hereditary; others are not. They can strike anyone at anytime, and there is currently no cure.

MDC works in partnership with people affected by neuromuscular disorders to contribute to their quality of life. They are committed to empowering individuals, mobilizing community resources, and providing direct assistance.

Manitoba Hydro pilot project in Riverview to showcase new meter technology

Pay-As-You-Go Smart Meters save electricity, money and greenhouse gas.

by Dennis Cunningham

Manitoba Hydro is partnering with Natural Resources Canada and Info Energy to launch a Smart Meter “Pay-As-You-Go” pilot project in five Manitoba communities. The pilot will allow homeowners to observe their real time consumption of electricity in dollars and cents using a special meter, and make convenient and flexible payments for their energy. Riverview residents have the opportunity to participate as one of the five pilot communities, and will be provided with free equipment, installation, and support.

As a Riverview resident, and someone interested in energy conservation, I have volunteered to assist Manitoba Hydro in recruiting 60 neighbourhood homes to be part of this one-year project. These meters are in use in other jurisdictions around the world including Woodstock, Ontario, where residents have been using Pay-As-You-Go smart meters since 1989 with great success. This project will allow Manitoba Hydro to determine if the positive benefits seen in Woodstock can also be realized in Manitoba.

Benefits observed in other Pay-As-You-Go smart meter programs include: average electricity savings of more than 16 percent; reductions in greenhouse gas emissions, the ability to determine actual costs associated with behaviours and appliances in the home; and increased consumer awareness. Normal monthly billing doesn't offer as clear a picture of a home's specific electricity consumption patterns, making it more difficult to reduce or change those patterns. Because the smart meter offers instant feedback, it is an ideal tool for monitoring home electricity consumption. If you leave a light on you'll see how much that choice costs you.

If you would like to learn more about, or be part of, the Smart Meter Pay-As-You-Go pilot project in Riverview you can contact me, Dennis Cunningham at 452-6229. Manitoba Hydro will be scheduling an information session on the project in April.

More of your money for you! - That's the big difference between tax preparation and tax planning

– by Ben Campbell CFP, Investors Group Financial Services

Hi there – I'm a new resident of the Riverview area and like some of my other neighborhood business associates, I thought I would lend a few words to this month's issue of the Riverview Reflector. My goal is to submit as many timely articles to the Reflector over the coming year as I can and I promise to respond to any & all questions or concerns that you may have regarding the information contained in my articles. You can reach me at 786-2708 (ext 3025) or at ben.campbell@investorsgroup.com. Seeing as we are closing in on the deadline to submit your 2004 Personal Income Tax return, this article's focus will be on everybody's less than favorite subject, income taxes. Thanks in advance for reading my article.

It's tax-time again - and if you're stressing over the last-minute preparation of this year's return, you've got plenty of company. Most Canadians wait until the last minute to file. But bumping up against the tax deadline year after year isn't just stressful, it's costly. When you toss a bunch of numbers on the forms just to get them in the mail by the deadline it's bound to cost you your money - in errors, omissions, and poor tax strategies. But by starting now to plan for the next tax year, it's likely you'll see a worthwhile reduction in your taxes - and your tax preparation process should be easier, too. Here are some tax planning tips guaranteed to reduce your stress level and possibly lower your income taxes when prep time rolls around next year:

- ? Get it all on the record: Make your task manageable by setting up a simple record-keeping system that tracks all your finances for tax purposes. Include all your receipts for expenses that qualify for tax deductions - such as eligible moving expenses, accounting fees and investment management fees - that will reduce your taxable income and tax bite.
- ? Register all your savings: Your RRSP could become the essential foundation of your financial future. Make it even stronger - and take full advantage of its unique tax-reducing, savings-building opportunities - by maximizing your RRSP contribution every year. And plan to do it early in the year to reap the full benefits of the "magic of compounding". Avoid having to come up with a lump sum contribution by starting a Pre-Authorized Contribution (PAC) program that each month makes an automatic contribution to your RRSP from a bank account.
- ? Spouse-up to tax-down: If you expect to generate more income than your spouse in retirement, consider a spousal RRSP. You contribute for your spouse, but get the tax break on your tax return. And by helping to balance your retirement income with that of your spouse, you'll likely lower your combined tax bill in retirement, too.
- ? Be a tax-savvy investor: You can actually reduce your taxes through a well-planned investment portfolio. One good way is to keep "heavily"-taxed investments (those that earn interest income that would otherwise be fully taxed at your marginal rate) inside your tax-deferred RRSP or RRIF (Registered Retirement Fund), and those that benefit from a "lighter" tax treatment (those that derive investment income from preferentially-taxed capital gains or Canadian dividends) outside your registered plans.
- ? 69 this year? If you're turning age 69 in 2005, you'll be required by law to wrap up your RRSP by December 31. Explore your retirement options right away to avoid a big tax hit.
" Pay on time: Make all required personal income payments on time to avoid penalties and interest.
- ? Aim for a zero refund: That tax refund isn't a gift to you; it's your money that the government has had for its use interest free. Keep your hard-earned dollars working for you through the year by requesting a reduction in taxes withheld at source based on you making RRSP contributions, child care expense payments, or support payments.
